Tasting notes

Vine's uniqueness

A complex and versatile grape variety, the Pinot grigio vine was found in the Venetian area at the end of the 1800's, an extremely favorable and vocated area. The wines here produced present different nuances of scents and flavors and, thanks to specific climatic conditions and the unique characteristics, have easily helped to conquer all over the world consumers: Pinot grigio today represents the main exported Italian grape variety and the fourth one cultivated in Italy. Thanks to the new DOC delle Venezie, yields per hectare have been reduced to ensure a new level of qualitative excellence in this great Italian wine.

International Awards

Consumers all over the world have welcomed the new Pinot grigio DOC delle Venezie with a great interest. International press and professional opinion leaders have recognized the excellence of the Italian style of delle Venezie DOC wines, shortly winners of important awards in the main world's competitions dedicated to global Pinot grigio productions.

2018 first vintage is now almost bottled and delivered to consumers.

1 autonomous province (Trentino)

2 regions (Friuli Venezia Giulia, Veneto)

a unique 25.810 hectares Pinot grigio area

Representing Pinot grigio

The new delle Venezie appellation is the largest Pinot grigio area in the world and homeland where 82% of the Italian production of this wine is today concentrated.

Export

Pinot grigio in the world: Italy is the 1st country for production. An incredible DOC vocation to export always confirmed.

One land's quality

The Alps, the Garda Lake right to the Venice lagoon and the Adriatic Sea up to the Collio hills: a great diversity of extraordinary terroirs where the vine is rooted, able to express the great excellence of the Italian Pinot grigio.
